Installation Damage

Broken Glass

Damage Happens!

From shipping, handling, installation or every day use, glass can break and window frames can get scuffed, gouged, cracked or penetrated. Nail fins can break. After installation, vinyl windows become victims of alarm sensor holes, hail damage and general wear and tear. Typically, damage to window frames goes unnoticed, ignored or repaired with incompatible materials that invite future problems.

For over 15 years, VinylDoc's patented repair method has been the gold standard in vinyl window repair. Only VinylDoc can replace glass and repair broken window frames. Major window manufacturers, window installers, service professionals and home owners alike have all come to trust VinylDoc. Epoxies, caulking, tapes are, at best, temporary solutions. VinylDoc patented products are PVC based and 100% compatible, allowing for time-tested and weatherproofed repairs that last.

Why Use VinylDoc?

Money

Ignoring damage or using incompatible products can potentially cost thousands in home damage and lead to legal action by the client. VinylDoc repair costs are minimal and can mitigate costly damage in the future.

Time is money. The more jobs you can complete, the more money you make. Waiting on a new window after an installation accident can take hours, days or even weeks. A typical VinylDoc repair can be completed on-the-spot and in a short amount of time.

Value

Customer satisfaction is always key. Providing clients with trained technicians that can restore vinyl window frames to industry standard shows you care about the customer. As does, encouraging them to start a yearly window frame maintenance program to keep thier window frames looking prestine.
